

P.S.115Q-The James J. Ambrose School

Family Newsletter

January 2021

Kevin Burke, Parent Coordinator

Hello Parents & Families,

I hope this message finds you healthy, safe and staying warm.

With winter, rapidly approaching, please be mindful to dress your children appropriately during these winter days. Maintaining a safe and secure environment around our school during these months is a priority for our Administration and our Custodial support team. Please drive cautiously and walk carefully with your children.

The beginning of a new year may result in new resolutions and goals for you and your children. The home-school partnership at P.S.115Q is a valuable and vital component of our mission/vision statement. This may be an appropriate time to reflect on their past performances in school and to assist and guide your children to ensure their academic progress.

Thank you for your amazing flexibility during these challenging times. Together is Better!

Happy New Year
